NOTICE OF APPARENT LIABILITY FOR FORFEITURE

Released: December 2, 2002

By the Enforcement Bureau, Tampa Office:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. In this Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture (“NAL”), we find Gabriel Dorcely apparently liable for a forfeiture in the amount of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for willful violation of Section 301 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (“Act”).¹ Specifically, we find Gabriel Dorcely apparently liable for the operation of an FM broadcast station on frequency 103.9 MHz at 112 W. Adams Street, Suite 1702, in Jacksonville, Florida, without Commission authorization.

II. BACKGROUND

2. On August 6, 2002, agents from the FCC Enforcement Bureau’s Tampa Field Office (“Tampa Office”) operating an FCC direction-finding vehicle in the Jacksonville, Florida, area monitored an FM broadcast station on the frequency 103.9 MHz. During the time the agents monitored, the station broadcast no identification. Using direction-finding equipment and techniques, the agents determined that the source of the signal on 103.9 MHz was an office building located at 112 W. Adams Street in Jacksonville, Florida. A ground plane type antenna was mounted on the roof of the building. Antenna cable ran from the rooftop antenna into Suite 1702 of the building. Based on field strength measurements taken by the agents of the station’s signal, a Commission authorization was required to operate the station.² FCC license records showed no license issued for an FM broadcast station at that location or for the frequency 103.9 MHz in the Jacksonville, Florida, area. Leasing information provided by the building’s lessor showed that the lessee of Suite 1702 was Gabriel Dorcely. Later that day, the agents, accompanied by Mr. Dorcely, inspected the radio station in Suite 1702 and found an FM broadcast transmitter in operation, along with various associated audio and studio equipment. Mr. Dorcely admitted to owning and operating the station.

III. DISCUSSION

² See 47 C.F.R. § 15.239(b).

3. Section 301 of the Act sets forth generally that no person shall use or operate any apparatus for the transmission of energy of communications or signals by radio within the United States except under and in accordance with the Act and with a license. On August 6, 2002, Gabriel Dorcely operated radio transmitting equipment on the frequency 103.9 MHz without benefit of the required Commission authorization.

4. Based on the evidence before us, we find that on August 6, 2002, Gabriel Dorcely willfully³ violated Section 301 of the Act by operating radio transmission apparatus without a license.

5. Pursuant to Section 1.80(b)(4) of the Rules,⁴ the base forfeiture amount for operating a radio station without a Commission authorization is $10,000. In assessing the monetary forfeiture amount, we must also take into account the statutory factors set forth in Section 503(b)(2)(D) of the Act, which include the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the violation, and with respect to the violator, the degree of culpability, any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and other such matters as justice may require.⁵ Considering the entire record and applying the factors listed above, this case warrants a $10,000 forfeiture.
